Message from Mr Poultney:

The week started in joyous fashion, when our football loving children cheered England to victory. There were certainly plenty of goals to celebrate and there was lots of excitement for everyone. Monday also saw Class 3 and 4 end their Roman topic. There were plenty of great costumes on show so thank you to our parents for supporting that. The children have learnt so much during the course of the topic and their class assemblies are on the horizon so make sure you have the dates in your diary.

The United Reformed Church has their annual Christmas tree display on show and our tree was decorated today. The children have created the decorations so pop along for a look between now and Christmas.

Thank you to those parents that came along for our meeting on Thursday afternoon. We had a productive chat. School shared its plans around performances with Class 1 and 2 leading the Nativity and Class 3 and 4 taking on responsibility for the summer show. We also chatted about communication and the Friends of Broadway so keep a lookout for an update very soon.

Finally, some of our children are singing carols from 5.30 pm as part of Broadway's Late Night Shopping event. Come along and see us if you can.

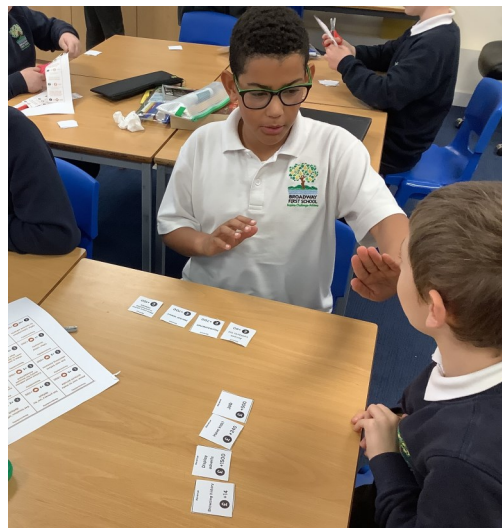

Letters sent home this week:

- Young Voices transport for children
- Santa Fun Run
- Table Tennis Christmas Fun Free Session
- New Home School Agreement
- Nativity details

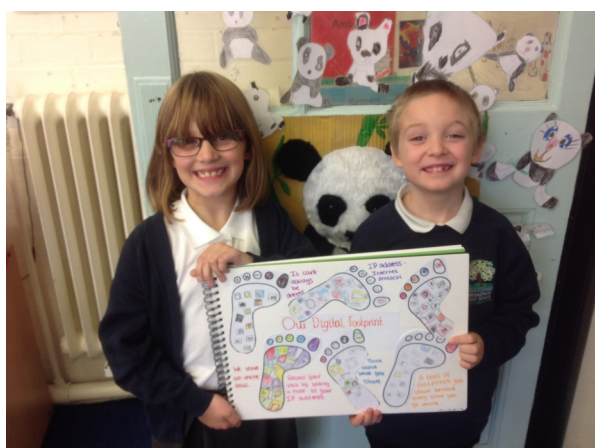

Tigers

In Tiger Class this week, we have been writing adventure stories in English, adding dialogue using inverted commas. In Maths, we have been using our rounding skills to estimate and then checking our answers with our column methods; we also used our column methods when playing Permission Mission in e-safety. We have made some super predictions in Science whilst planning our investigation to see which material will have the least amount of friction to launch our life-boat into the sea the quickest.

Pandas

On Monday, Panda Class celebrated the end of their topic 'Chariot Champions'. We demonstrated our fantastic knowledge of the Roman era through creating our own leaflets that identified how the Romans influenced life in Britain. This week, we have also started our new Science unit – Forces and Magnets. We have used our working scientifically skills to plan an investigation to explore how objects move on different surfaces. Finally, in our E-Safety lesson this week, we identified our own digital footprints. We then explored these further through identifying age appropriate games and apps and considered why some of these apps and games have an age rating. Super work, Pandas!

Koalas

In Koala Class this week, we have finished our 'Through my Window' topic. As we were unable to go on our village walk due to the stormy weather, we made Broadway out of blocks and Lego instead! Take a look at the photo for an amazing recreation of the inside of the church. We have started our new Science topic, Everyday Materials, and the children did a great job of sorting lots of our classroom objects into wood, metal, fabric and plastic. Keep up the good work!

Broadway Tower

Tree Frogs

This week, Class One continued our learning of 'The Gingerbread Man'. We acted the story out with puppets and then drew a story map. We received a letter from the class fairy who showed some shadows of her friends. We explored shadows and light using the dark den, torches, shadow puppets and making shapes with our hands. We also designed our own Gingerbread and decorated it! In Maths, we have been looking at the composition of numbers to 5 developing fluent recall of how these numbers are made up.

Christmas Lunch

The online ordering system for the Christmas lunch on Tuesday 13th December, has now been updated to the correct menu. If you would like your child to have the festive menu, please can you log on to the Sodexo system and order by Thursday 8th December at the latest. I attach the menu as well as instructions on how to order online as a reminder. The school are also providing Christmas crackers and squash for the children as well as table service on the day!

In addition to this, you can now also order online for the next half term.

Young Voices 2023 Transport Costs

If your child is going to Young Voices on Monday 9th January 2023 with the school, please can you pay the £4 fee for the coach in cash at the school office by Thursday 15th December as unfortunately the minimum you are able to pay via Parentmail+Pay is £5.
